CONSTRUCTION LAW update

As soon as we know...you'll know.

The Construction Law Update news bulletin is an electronic monthly bulletin designed to inform you of recent court decisions that will affect the day-to-day management of your business.

With a roster of contributing writers that includes some of Canada's most respected construction lawyers and founding members of the Canadian College of Construction Lawyers, the Construction Law Update Conferences and News Bulletin have provided timely, beneficial information on recent court decisions, and have suggested strategies to assist construction industry professionals in avoiding similar circumstances.

The News Bulletin's new format includes key words and phrases highlighted at the beginning of each article, providing a convenient new way to index your CLU News Bulletin articles. All case summaries in future CLU News Bulletin Compendiums will be indexed according to this system.

To protect your interests, and ensure that you are current on construction cases' court rulings, please complete the subscription form below to receive the next issue of the Construction Law Update News Bulletin.
